Let's Get Connected

As devices are getting smarter, so is the software that moves that device data. Technology advancements in connectivity software at Rockwell Automation have made accessing and transporting data easier than ever before. Learn how FactoryTalk Linx supports a broader range of hardware and software, expanding inter-operability among connected "things" in the Industrial Internet of Things, and helping our customers realize the reach and potential of a Connected Enterprise.

Join us for our April User Group and learn more about Rockwell Automation's adoption and implementation of OPC UA technology and how it impacts communications in the Connected Enterprise
